

I I value diversity and localism in media, and feel that further relaxing broadcast ownership restrictions can only reduce such diversity. The airwaves belong to the people of the United States, and should not be allowed to be monopolized by a large corporations. Existing media ownership restrictions have already been weakened too far. Reducing remaining restrictions would be a mistake that would be difficult to undo. Don't make this mistake.